Dear Procurement Directors,

The Caribbean Development Bank (CDB) and the Inter-American Development Bank (IDB) are pleased to announce the availability of three (3) full scholarships for Caribbean procurement professionals to pursue the International Master in Public Procurement Management (IMPPM) at the University of Rome Tor Vergata, Italy, during the 2026/2027 academic year.

The programme represents a unique opportunity to further advance the professionalisation and capacity of public procurement across the region, by equipping practitioners with cutting-edge knowledge in areas such as sustainable procurement, digital transformation, and innovative procurement strategies. The competencies and international networks developed through this programme have consistently proven to be highly valuable to both professionals and their institutions.

We respectfully encourage you to disseminate this opportunity within your networks and organization, inviting qualified staff members to apply. The application deadline is September 30, 2025.

Graduates of the programme will be expected to contribute actively to institutional and national capacity-building by sharing the knowledge gained - whether through presentations, training sessions, or policy discussions - ensuring that the benefits extend beyond the individual to the wider public sector. These activities will be agreed upon with the sponsoring institution (CDB or IDB) and the recipient's employer to ensure alignment with organisational priorities.

Full details on eligibility criteria and application requirements can be accessed here:
